Welcome to the new Reading Olympics! We know that building life-long literacy skills is a marathon and we are encouraging all families to join us in our school wide reading goal of 2400 minutes per person between November and April. All together that sounds like a lot, but it’s just 20 minutes a day, 5 days a week. When you’ve read 20 minutes, fill in a square on the marathon map. That’s it! If you complete that, you’ll receive a book to keep of your choosing (just like summer learning at the public library)!

Any reading counts! Books, eBooks, audiobooks, and being read to. Check out the Sora and Libby apps for a world of eBooks and audiobooks from the school and local libraries. The most important thing is to READ WHAT YOU WANT! Choose a book you like and read. If you want to challenge yourself, to refresh your mind and body, and get a little something different, check out the water stops. Like any good marathon, there are water stops along the way. These are “bonus adventures” for you to complete. If you complete these, you’ll receive an extra reward.

- Water Stop 1: Read three Sequoyah nominee books and then go vote. You get to help choose the next award-winning book! See Mrs. Winfrey for further instruction.
- Water Stop 2: Read to someone younger than you. Help someone younger than you by reading with a younger sibling, a book buddy, or a neighbor.
- Water Stop 3: Read a nonfiction book. This includes biographies, folk tales, science and technology, art, geography, etc.
- Water Stop 4: Read an award-winning book. Any national or state award. Some examples are Sequoyah, Pura Belpre Medal, Coretta Scott King Award, Newberry Medal, etc.
- Water Stop 5: Read a recommended book. Ask a teacher, family member, or friend for a book recommendation.
- Water Stop 6: Read an Oklahoma author’s book. Read a book with an Oklahoma author, or read a book about Oklahoma or set in Oklahoma. It can be fiction or nonfiction.

Forms are DUE to the Roosevelt library by Friday May 1st
